

VVAAS 2024 PD options

VVAAS Professional Development Goals:

- Train division educators to be highly effective in navigating and building reports within VVAAS to answer purposeful data questions.
- Share best practices in understanding VVAAS 2nd Release which includes 2022 and 2023 data.

If you would like to schedule a PD session for a group, your division or are willing to host a statewide event, please complete this form and Morri Pace will contact you with more details.

Who should attend:

Each opportunity will allow educators to learn more about VVAAS and how it can show relationships between growth and achievement. Because of the diverse ways VVAAS can support educators, it is recommended that you have instructional, administrative, and student services staff understand and be able to use VVAAS.

In-person Opportunities:

Statewide in-person opportunities are designed to equip leaders to return and share the updates to VVAAS and how to evaluate the new data released for 2023.

- The afternoon session will allow for two different learning paths to accommodate more experienced VVAAS users.
- Divisions can send up to 10 attendees as space allows. Registration will remain open until 2 weeks before the event. Registration link

New Opportunity: VVAAS University Session 3

The Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) is sponsoring a professional development event that will allow Virginia educators to build a data literacy community using the Virginia Visualization and Analytics Solution (VVAAS). The VVAAS University event will be held on the SAS Campus in Cary, North Carolina.

Participants are expected to share information gleaned from the university experience back in their division. Ideally, you would send a participant who focuses on data in your division and another who focuses on instructional strategies. Divisions are allowed to register up to three participants. Limited spots are available.
